Dear Parishioners:

Please Note: Our church and Gathering Space will have its roof replaced beginning Monday, September 19. During the weeks of September 19, September 26, and possible October 3, we will NOT hold the daily 8 am Mass in the church. Instead, the 8 am Mass will be offered at Immaculate Conception in Marydel. The church will be closed during those weeks while the roof is being replaced. Please note that Saturday evening and Sunday Masses WILL be held here in our church during this time.

Now on to the Pastor's Column:

Couched between last Sunday and this Sunday, on September 14 was the Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross. A great feast in our Church, and for the folks of Holy Cross Parish — it is the Patronal Feast day of the Parish. This weekend I am going to continue my Pastor's Column on the subject of the Holy Cross of Christ in our lives. As noted last week, while, I'd like to lay claim that all the thoughts below are mine alone, they are not. I was inspired by a the words of a Dominican Priest's reflections from several years ago; I take some of his thoughts and some my thoughts — which align well — and then I hit the puree button on the blender of word processing, and voila. With that, part two of this column about some thoughts on the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, and its place and effect in our life.

I Can't Hear You. If we see our life as a wilderness, and we lose our patience with God, then like the people of Israel (whose "patience worn out by the journey... complained against God" as we hear the first reading on the Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross), we will also wind up speaking against God and complaining: "Why is life so hard?" "Why do we suffer and grieve?" "Why does my grandmother have to get sick and die?" "Why are we in this wilderness of life filled with tragedies, with hurricanes, with cancer, and with heart-break?" And for many, especially those who lack faith or whose faith is weak, those questions SEEM to be met by silence and darkness. It appears to these people that God is silent and doing nothing.

Theology and Answers. The problem is that many today look for meaning in life, and a basis for existence, but they look without faith — they use science, and technology, and psychology, and anthropology to find answers that belong to theology — and so, they come up empty. And it appears to them, that God is silent, and doing nothing. But they are wrong. They are wrong. In truth, God is doing everything — every fullness that can fill up our emptiness — every good thing, God is doing. For He, the One who created all that is from nothing continues to bring life and goodness and blessing even from the depths of the wilderness, in which we find ourselves. In our suffering and in the trials of our human condition, God is silent, it seems, but that is because he shares in our unutterable agony. He shares in our struggle, and in our troubles, in order to lift us up from them. As Jesus says: "When I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw everyone to myself" (Jn 12:32).

The Absolute Truth. Today's Gospel read on the Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, we are told that "God loved the world so much that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not be lost..." And that's the truth, the absolute truth. Here in the wilderness of the modern world, we need NOT be lost, we need NOT feel lost, and we need NEVER wander alone. For into the wilderness of this world, in the wilderness of our very lives, God, who loves you and me, has sent his Son. Just as Moses lifted up the bronze serpent in the desert, so in the wilderness of our sinful human condition, Jesus Christ has been lifted up on the Cross. And all who look upon him — indeed, all who look to him — will not be lost. It is a truth that those who are lost in the wilderness only need to look up and see the stars God has given to guide them out of the desert.

Look Up at the Cross. So, too, those who are lost in modernity, those who lost in the wilderness of the world, those who are imprisoned by the mind trap of doubt — they need only to look up and see Him, and be guided aright. You know, if you spend your life looking down, you will never rise to new heights, because you'll never even know they're there. That is to say, if you only look at the earth, you'll miss seeing Heaven. If you look only at this land, you'll miss seeing the Promised Land. Ask Lot's wife. Thus, the Cross of Christ is exalted, it demands that you look up. Raise your eyes and raise your hopes.

The Sign of the Cross. And so, for us, the Cross of Christ must never, never become merely a decoration around our necks or on our walls. Never. For us, it is a powerful sign before which the Devil cowers and runs. It is the repellent

Next week, parishioners throughout the diocese will be asked to help make the dream of a Catholic education a reality for many struggling Catholic families. Monies raised through this collection coupled with the diocese's tuition assistance endowment provides financial assistance to hundreds of deserving families who seek a Catholic education for their children but who cannot afford the full cost of tuition.

Through this collection, our Bishop is reaching out to believing and worshipping Catholics like you to assist him in ensuring the Catholic commitment to total education of our children does not fade away because people cannot afford it. Church has the mission to educate and this mission directly affects the quality of life we experience as Catholics, all of us have a stake in Catholic education.

I ask you to generously support next week's Share in the Spirit collection. God bless you for your ongoing goodness.

PRAY THE HOLY ROSARY

October is the month of the Rosary. As in the past we will collect names of those that rosary during October. You can pray whenever, wherever, and with whomever for the intentions of world peace and the conversion of sinners as our Lady of Fatima requested. Our Lady has won many battles and can do it again with our help.

Please sign the pledge forms and place them in Our Lady's Basket located in the Gathering Place. Sign up will take place on September 17/18 and September 24/25. Start praying the first day of October through October 31. Our Lady of Fatima says if people do what she tells us, many souls will be saved. Last year 15,080 rosaries were prayed by our Holy Cross families during October.

There's much to be said for subtlety. A subtle difference in style, personality, or design is often appreciated. A subtle message interwoven in the spoken or printed word can also be pleasing. There is one particular instance of subtlety that I have developed a disdain for, however.

Over time, I have noticed a subtle difference in the products I purchase from retailers. I refer not to price, because there's nothing subtle about the increase in the cost of living. No, I point to the subtle difference in the product, itself. For instance, I am willing to bet the size of the Triscuit is now smaller than before. Today, it's slightly larger than bite size! The cat treats I purchase for my furry friends is definitely smaller in size; meaning of course I have to increase the number served. (so far, no complaints there...) And, while the number of raisins and the measure of cinnamon in my muffin appears to remain adequate, the muffin itself has diminished in size!

I recall fondly my mother and I sitting together, just shooting the breeze over a cup of a certain warm beverage. That same warm beverage remain available on the grocery shelves. On an occasional basis I will prepare a cup for myself and just enjoy..... I don't have any idea what my mother paid for the product. But when I first started buying it for myself, I paid all of $1.94. Same size, same quality as in years past. As the years have gone by us all, I have noticed an increase in price, but I didn't mind. Today, I really minded paying $5.00 for this same product. Same size, no observable enhancements made to the quality. $ 5.00. That represents a 158% increase in cost. The element of choice has all but vanished. If the consumer really wants it, the blind eye is turned; in the basket it goes.

This should be a true source of concern for us all. Families are hard pressed to raise children in these days and times. It's no matter of consequence the size and price of Triscuits or cat treats. Parents are having to figure out how to provide their children with an upbringing that will ensure that their feet are firmly entrenched on the pathway leading to a righteous, just and respectable adulthood. Extended family members often play a tangible role in this assurance. In many cases, actual, true sacrifices have to be made

Over the summer, HCS welcomed just under sixty new students to our school. While we celebrate each new student and promise all of them a quality educational experience, as an administrator I also know that the number could have been much greater. I know how many families had to concede to the fact that they just could not afford to pay the tuition. It was painful for some. They knew the alternative is not going to provide their families with the educational, moral, or social experience they want for their children. I know of a few families who went back and forth in their attempts to figure out how to make it work for them financially. From my perspective, it is more than sad when a family is forced to say no to a Catholic education because they have to first feed, clothe, and provide a home for the child.

Next weekend is Share In The Spirit weekend. I provide you with the following information from the Catholic Diocese of Wilmington website.

What is the Share in the Spirit campaign?

Share in the Spirit is an annual collection for tuition assistance to Catholic schools in the Diocese of Wilmington. This special collection is conducted at all Masses during the fourth weekend of September. In addition, invitations to participate in this fundraising effort are mailed and offered online.

This year, the collection will take place on September 24th and 25th, 2022. The funds raised from this collection are also combined with funds from the diocese's Vision for the Future of Education Trust to assist elementary and secondary school students whose families struggle to afford the total cost of tuition.

Every single family who receives tuition assistance pays for a portion of their child's tuition. Your participation in this campaign helps to support hard-working families to make the dream of a Catholic education a reality.

I can tell you that no more than ten HCS students have benefitted from funds collected last year. I can also tell you that many who applied did not receive assistance because the resources are limited. I can tell you that there are those who are sitting in public sector classrooms because their parents are unable to have them in a Catholic school. I can also tell you that HC parish provides assistance as they can. But, in this instance as well, limited resources play a role in the amount of assistance provided.

Once again, I want to acknowledge the many donors who have made generous monetary gifts to our school. Once again, I want to acknowledge the fact that curriculum enhancements would have been a little more difficult to manage if not for the generosity of our families and parishioners.

But sometimes, a lot given by a few is not necessarily as helpful as a little given by many. Will you consider making some small donation next weekend?

The quality of the product produced by a Catholic school has not diminished by size, content, or integrity. There is a measurable and observable difference in the product of a Catholic education and the product produced by the alternative offering.

There is nothing subtle in the difference between the two.

against evil. It is, mankind's only hope. That exalted cross, that Holy Cross is the one thing that stands still as the world revolves and changes around it.

The Effect of the Cross. I was reading an article that made the point that it is no coincidence that an anchor is shaped like a cross. For the cross anchors us to the Truth, the cross anchors us to the One who saves us, the cross anchors us to hope and to glory.

- The cross, that crucifix, keep us anchored safely even as the wild storms of this world rage and the waves of anti-Christianity assail us.
- The cross, that cross, binds us, particularly in our sufferings, to Jesus Christ who suffered and died and rose again.
- The Holy Cross, that Holy Cross, is therefore, raised up in the wilderness of lives to point us to the Risen Lord, to Jesus Christ, to Him who is, who was and who is to come.

The Hope of the Cross. As Pope Francis said: "In the Cross our hope is reborn": hope in salvation, hope in the eternal life; hope in the new heavens and the new earth; hope in the love and joy can is ours, even as we bear our own crosses with patience.

The Love of the Cross. So, in the Gospel that is read on the Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, St. John says, "God sent his Son into the world not to condemn the world, but so that through him the world might be saved." And thus, had Christ merely suffered and died on the Cross, then the world would be condemned to simply suffer and die, too. It would just, to quote singer B.J. Thomas of yesteryear, "another somebody done somebody wrong song." But what happened on that cross was not and is not a somebody done somebody wrong song — it is a love song. God sent his Son to save us and by means of the Cross; and he saved us from eternal death and loss, and moreover, from that exalted cross, he points us onward to that Promised Land, -- we need only the eyes of faith to see, and courage of heart to follow it.

The Illumination of the Cross. Whether you are from Marydel or Dover, you have all seen, at Holy Cross Church, that enormous stained-glass window of the cross. Each night that cross is illuminated in the darkness of night and shines the image of salvation upon all of Dover. That Cross has been described as the statement on State Street. That's is correct, it is a statement.

- That cross, that Holy Cross, is a statement that pushes back the wilderness of the world, and builds the city of God.
- That Holy Cross is a statement that says life has meaning, death has been conquered, and that we are never alone in the wilderness of this world.

The Embrace of the Cross. In the first reading read on the Feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, God's chosen people were losing patience with God on the way to the Promised Land. Though I'd like to, I cannot guarantee that any one of us will not have a day or a moment or a time where don't lose patience with God. We'd like to think that can't be us. But in truth, it could be: we're an impatient bunch. And so, I leave with this: in the trials and the wilds of this life and of our modern world, if we find that we come to a day when we simply feel that we cannot suffer it all anymore, where we are losing patience, we mustn't give up. Rather, in those moments — those tough moments — we must have the grace to do as so many generations of the faithful have done before us: reach out our hand and hold on to a crucifix; hold on tight. Cling to that Holy Cross of Christ. Because when that cross is exalted, we will rise with it also. All that being said, let's strive not to lose patience, with the one who never loses patience with us.

The Holy Cross of Christ. And so, from the hill of Calvary, to the hills of Rome, to Dover and to Marydel — that Cross, that Holy Cross is exalted for all to see. And for this, today, on this great Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, we celebrate both with joy — and with patience.

Yours in Christ,
Fr. James Lentini
